Mishler Moments - news from Josh & Maria Mishler - missionaries with Wycliffe Bible Translators in Kandern Germany.

A Mishler Moment's newsletter has been attached to the bulletin board by the restrooms if you're interested in reading their family updates and prayer requests.

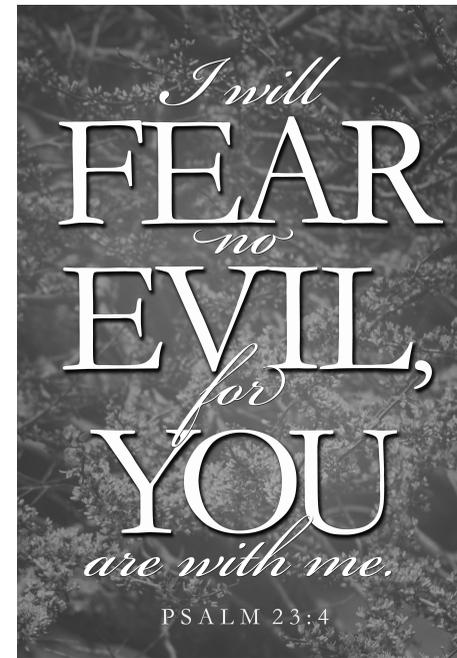

Josh shares this encouraging news in his newsletter... The New Testament and Psalms was recently completed and printed for a language group in West Asia. Please pray for the distribution of the scripture, which relies on shipping, clearing customs, transportation in the country and couriers taking one box at a time. Pray for protection and that each book reaches someone ready to read it and that their lives will be transformed.

Praise God for the work of Wycliffe and missionaries like the Mishler's who have made it their life's work and mission to obey Jesus command in Matthew 28 to go and make disciples in all nations.

Please continue to keep Josh, Maria, and their family in your prayers.

During the Korean conflict, journalist Marguerite Higgins, a courageous and award-winning war correspondent, spoke with a young soldier shivering in the bitter cold. He was eating from a tin can, his face streaked with mud, when she asked, "If I could give you anything in the world you wanted, what would you ask for?"

The soldier paused for a moment, then answered quietly, "Give me tomorrow."

What a simple yet profound longing. For those living in hardship, tomorrow represents hope—the chance to see another sunrise, to experience peace, to begin again.

As Christians, we live with the blessed assurance that we not only have today, but also tomorrow—an eternal tomorrow promised through the risen Christ. Scripture reminds us, "Death has been swallowed up in victory" (1 Corinthians 15:54, NRSV). And again, "Thanks be to God, who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Corinthians 15:57, NRSV).

Because of Christ's resurrection, we no longer fear what tomorrow may bring. Our future is secure, our hope unshaken. In Him, tomorrow is already ours
